Collected Data for the Management of the Contractual Relations

The personal data you have provided in your application, notably your name, address, phone number, and bank details, which are solely required to manage the contractual relations (Grant Agreement), are collected in line with legal provisions.

Any use of the personal data in excess of the above-mentioned use, as well as the collection of additional data, requires prior written approval.

Rights to Information, Correction, Deletion and Blocking

At any given time, you have the right to ask the Takaya Urakawa Foundation for extensive information about the collected personal data.

You can always insist on having the Takaya Urakawa Foundation correct, delete, or block certain personal data.

You can place your information request by mail, e-mail, or fax to the contractual partner. You will not face any additional costs other than the postage, or transmission costs according to applicable basis tariffs.

I was informed about these rights today.
